

INT. POLICE STATION - NIGHT

MILO (30), quirky yet intense, eyeballs CARTER (52), hardened detective. Milo is mid-sentence and taking advantage of the huge breath he just took.

MILO

...and my camp counselor told 10-year old me that it wasn't an injury, sometimes hands...don't develop into hands. I think, wow...is that what happened to me? Some kids are born without all 5 fingers, and I was that Autastic kid that was born without social skills.

Milo twists his fingers so they stop twitching. His left leg audibly twitches up and down from the heel.

MILO (CONT.)

So yeah, I hack webcams & eavesdrop on people because that's as close to a real human interaction as I'll ever get. I didn't leak her webcam. I would never steal someone's info or broadcast it somewhere. Yes, it's easy to do but it's morally wrong. I just watch them do their thing. And hang out with friends like it's the easiest thing ever. I'm 30 years old, my head looks like a foot and nobody pays attention to me in real life so you bet nobody messages me back on dating apps. I'm going to die alone.

(beat)

Let me have this.
